

Volunteering, Task Forces & Running for Office

Running for Public Office

Federal Office; State & Multi-County Office; and State Board of Education

If you are considering running for public elected office, this is a simplified flow chart of links to follow for Snohomish County residents.

- Start here. The Secretary of State is in charge of Federal, Statewide, and multi-County legislative and judicial elected positions. You can also find information about voting programs, voting eligibility, candidate eligibility, current and past election results, and redistricting.
- The Candidates page contains the State Candidates Guide 2021: information about filing, filing fees, your candidate profile in the voter's pamphlet, and other information.
 - Page also contains links to descriptions of elected offices, state office salary information, WA state voter registration database, guide to registering new voters, and more
 - For political advertising and financial regulations and reporting: State and local candidates will also need to contact the WA Public Disclosure Commission
 - If you are running for President of the United States, this page details the required convention process and the Minor & Independent Presidential Candidates Guide
 - For political advertising and financial regulations and reporting: Federal candidates will also need to contact the Federal Elections Commission
- Ways to File for Candidacy:
 - Online Candidate Filing is available through the Secretary of State for the following positions:
 - United States Senator; United States Representative; Statewide Executive; State Legislative (multi-county only); Supreme Court Justice; Court of Appeals Judge; Superior Court Judge (multi-county only)
 - Or, you may file by mail or in person using the Printable form

See a list of elected Federal, State, and multi-County positions currently open for election on the Secretary of State website.

Local & Tribal Offices, and School Boards

If you are considering running for public elected office, this is a continuation of the simplified flow chart of links to follow for Snohomish County residents.

For those considering running for County and Municipal elected positions, you may locate your County Election Commission here.

- Snohomish County Elections administers primaries and elections and manages the voter registration process for Snohomish County voters.
- The page detailing how to Run for Office contains eligibility guidelines, 2021 Candidate Guide, links to the Candidate Workshops and Public Disclosure Commission Videos and Training Publications

See a list of elected County, Municipal, and School Board positions currently open for election.

The WA State School Directors Association has created a new guide for people considering running for their local school board.

- Additionally, please see their guide to Serving on Your Local School Board and the WA School Board Standards
- The WSSDA has also created a new page for New School Directors, including tutorials on laws, policies, and procedures related to local school boards
- New school directors may also wish to attend the WSSDA Annual Conference and Board Boot Camp training.

Additional Guides
